

VR Library Content Catalogue

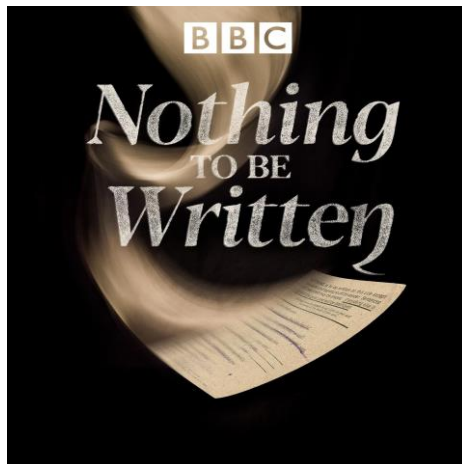

Permanent Collection

Berlin Blitz 1943

Join BBC war correspondent Wynford Vaughan-Thomas onboard a Lancaster bomber to the heart of Nazi-occupied Europe, enduring endless flak and a night fighter attack.

Runtime: 14 minutes

Nothing to be Written

Part artwork, part documentary, Nothing to be Written tells the stories of First World War 'Field Postcards', one of the only means of communication available to soldiers on the front. VR created with music composed by Anna Meredith.

Runtime: 5 minutes

Doctor Who: The Runaway

Step inside the TARDIS with the Doctor and be introduced to a strange and magnificent ball of living energy called Volta. Part teenager, part bomb, Volta is very unstable. In fact, he's primed to explode unless he can be returned to his home planet, sharpish. Drawn into a frantic chase with a squad of galactic busybodies, become the Doctor's assistant in a race against time to get Volta home.

Runtime: 13 minutes

The Turning Forest

In a magical forest, a young child stares into the eyes of a fantastical creature and together they embark on an unforgettable journey in this interactive fairy tale for all ages.

Runtime: 7 minutes

People Just Do Nothing

Last thing you remember, you were enjoying a premium lager at a pub near your record label HQ. Now you find yourself in a flat in Brentford where a man named Chabuddy G has an important question for you...

Will you sign Kuruft FM?

Contains Strong Language

Runtime: 5 minutes

Congo VR: A Troubled Past

The Congo is one of the world's great rivers. Take a Virtual Reality journey through the Democratic Republic of the Congo from the Atlantic Ocean to the river's furthest reaches with the BBC's Africa Correspondent Alastair Leithead. In the first episode, visit a former president's overgrown jungle palace, and while hunting with pygmies hear about the country's brutal history.

Runtime: 10 minutes

Congo VR: War and Disease

The Congo is one of the most powerful rivers on the planet. It drains the Democratic Republic of the Congo – a country the size of western Europe. In this second episode, take to the rapids in a narrow tree-trunk boat and then head to one of the most dangerous parts of the country where there's war and Ebola.

Runtime: 10 minutes

Congo VR: Great Riches

The mighty Congo River cuts through the largest rainforest outside the Amazon and has wildlife found nowhere else on earth. The Democratic Republic of the Congo could be one of the richest countries in Africa, but its people are among the poorest. In this final episode, join the BBC's Africa Correspondent Alastair Leithead searching for endangered gorillas in the rainforest and exploring its mining heartland.

Runtime: 10 minutes

Missing Pictures: Episode 1: Birds of Prey

Many incredible ideas for films never see the light of day. Missing Pictures is a VR documentary series that brings these untold stories to life. The first part of this series features award-winning director Abel Ferrara. He takes us on a thrilling journey into the depth of the uncompleted project Birds of Prey. Ferrara has said: "No one can stop me from talking about my movie." This platform allows him – and other filmmakers – to tell the incredible story behind his film to us in the most imaginative way.

Contains Strong Language

Runtime: 8 minutes

India's Stuntwomen

Only eight out of 700 of India's stunt performers are women. Two of them show us how they stay on top of a male dominated film industry. Stand on a motorcycle while riding with Anam Hashim, a 23 year old who loves doing what scares her the most. You'll likely duck at the punches thrown at you by 32 year old Geeta Tandon, a Bollywood stunt artist who has suffered several bone fractures. Their physical challenges reflect the struggles they face as stuntwomen in a deeply patriarchal society. They find joy in their high risk jobs, which also gratify them as they set forward to bring the change they want in their society.

Runtime: 7 minutes

Crossing the Sky

Crossing the Sky follows two sisters on their long and perilous trip to school in the Himalayas. Radhika is 14 and Yashoda is 16 years old. Every day, they wake up at 5am and leave Swaya, their remote Uttarakhand village of 500 people, to start their 2-3 hour trip to school. This involves a steep trek in the mountains and crossing a flooded river by pulling a trolley over gushing waters. Join them on their journey in this stunning 360° film from BBC News.

Runtime: 8 minutes

Hand in Hand

Visit India's Kumbh Mela festival - the world's largest gathering of people. Here, in Allahabad, Hindus believe that bathing in the river will cleanse them of sins and set them free from the cycle of birth and death. Manorama Mishra (72) and Girija Devi (68) are from two villages in northern India. Both lead lonely lives - Ms Devi can go days without talking to anyone while Ms Mishra's life is an endless wait for a visit from one of her children. Their lives take a happy turn, however, when they arrive at the Kumbh Mela and find each other. Follow their transformational journey...

Runtime: 8 minutes

Make Noise

Hum, sing and shout along with Nikki Amuka-Bird in this unique virtual reality experience which uses the power of your voice to smash through the barriers faced by the suffragettes during their fight to win the vote for women.

App

Runtime: 8 minutes

Temporary Collection (July-Sept)

Everest VR

This experience starts off in the heart of the French Alps and follows some of the world's best mountain athletes pursuing their sports and explaining their motivations behind it. Your journey will take you to the most extreme VR locations filmed on this planet and finish on the summit of Everest itself. Witness what it's like to be engulfed in a Himalayan avalanche, cross a crevasse and stare deep in its depths, take a huge rock climbing fall, camp under the stars, and soak in the view from the Top of the World.

Runtime: 11 minutes

Genesis

If all of Earth's history was condensed into a single day, humankind was born in the final second. Before even our earliest ancestors came into being, Earth's story had been long and tumultuous. Step into the chaos of the cosmos as the planet is formed, watch the first lifeforms emerge from an underwater world, and take a journey through prehistoric forests where giant insects and colossal dinosaurs roam. Witness mass extinction and the birth of a new species – one which can imagine, dream, and create.

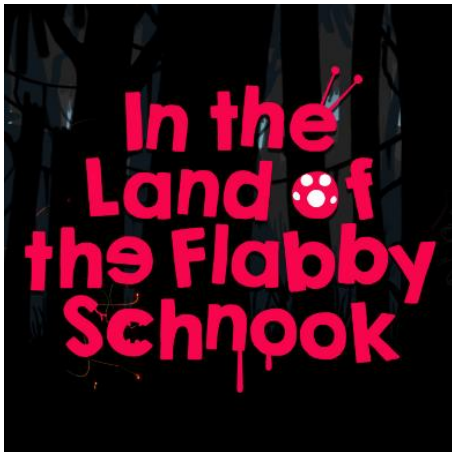

Runtime: 13 minutes

Songbird

Be transported to the island of Kauai in 1984 and into a painted replica of a lush cloud forest filled with colourful birds. Here, you are invited to search for the last known 'ō'ō, an iconic black bird with yellow leg feathers and a beautiful song, a bird whose existence has been threatened to the point of extinction. You are retracing the steps of world-renowned ornithologist Dr Jim Jacobi, hearing the true story of his extraordinary meeting with the fabled 'ō'ō, before experiencing your own close encounter with this legendary bird.

Runtime: 10 minutes

In The Land of the Flabby Schnook

A little brother asks his big sister how she managed to stop being afraid of the dark. She leads him through a mysterious and magical dreamscape, through forests and under the sea, where everything comes alive. Along the way, her brother must learn to face his own fears before confronting the fearsome Flabby Schnook!

Runtime: 6 minutes